教育とセクシュアリティ 全4巻

Education and Sexualities 4 volume set

Major Themes in Education

Edited by Peter Aggleton

Education and sexuality raises complex questions and provokes heated—sometimes furious—debate. This four-volume collection offers an authoritative overview of key issues within this rapidly developing field. Under the editorship of Peter Aggleton (editor-in-chief of the international journal, Sex Education), the collection covers a wide range of contemporary issues and concerns, including: the sexualities curriculum around the world; 'politics and pleasure'; classroom processes and dynamics; sexual and gender diversity in the classroom; gender and sexual violence in schools and colleges; and bullying, victimization, and abuse.

教育と宗教 全4巻

Education and Religion 4 volume set

Major Themes in Education

Edited by L. Philip Barnes and James Arthur

Fundamentally, what is the role of religious education in national curricula? And how especially does religious education work in countries that seek explicitly to separate church from state? What is the relationship between research and classroom practice? And what of religious education in non-school settings? What place should so-called faith schools have in modern plural societies? And, more broadly, how far should publicly funded education officials seek to accommodate the views and feelings of religious communities? This new four-volume Routledge collection addresses these and other controversies.

The Psychology of Attention 4 volume set

Critical Concepts in Psychology

Edited by Michael I. Posner

The materials gathered in Volume I include explorations of the limits of attention and early empirical work on methods to probe brain activity. Volume II examines critical theories that allow computer programs to simulate and predict how attention operates, while Volume III is organized around the use of brain imaging, cellular recording, and optogenetics to delineate how the brain carries out the functions of attention. Volume IV connects studies of attention to applications, including: connectivity to electronic media; brain-based educational curricula, the economics of decision making, and psychopathologies.

高等教育における学習と教育 全4巻

Learning and Teaching in Higher Education 4 volume set

Sage Library of Educational Thought and Practice

Edited by Margaret Malloch, Len Cairns, and Bridget N. O'Connor

The central focus of this major work is on issues, challenges and changes in the field of teaching and learning in Higher Education, and particularly those which have developed over the past few decades. Since the 19th century there has been a constant debate over what universities and higher education should and could be, and with the purposes, costs and value to society coming to the fore of the discussion in most recent times.

While there is no doubt that the issues involved in movements and changes such as "globalization", "commercialisation", "massification", and "corporatization"—as they have been characterized over the last few decades—have significantly impacted Universities, there have also been profound effects of greater access of more diverse groups to Higher Education, increases in areas of study and their application, and in the impact of technology as never before. Across four thematic volumes, this major work examines a number of these effects and how they have led to issues and developments in the field.

Education Policy

Major Themes in Education

Edited by Stephen Ball

Educational research is inextricably interwoven with national and global debates about and around political and economic policy. Now, to help make sense of an enormous—and growing—corpus of scholarship, and to enable users to discriminate the useful from the tendentious, superficial, and otiose, Routledge announces a new title in its Major Themes in Education series.

Education Policy is a four-volume 'mini library' of the very best and most influential academic research concerned with the exploration, discussion, and analysis of educational policymaking, policy implementation, and policy impact. The editor of the collection has also assembled major works on theoretical debates, along with essential historical and comparative studies. Users of the collection will now be able easily and rapidly to locate key works that are otherwise often inaccessible or scattered throughout a variety of specialist journals and books.

Handbook of Gerontology Research Methods: Understanding Successful Ageing

Research Methods in Developmental Psychology: A Handbook Series

Edited by Leigh Riby

The Handbook of Gerontology Research Methods offers a clear understanding of the most important research challenges and issues in the burgeoning field of the psychology of aging. As people in developed countries live longer, so a range of research methods has evolved that allows a more nuanced understanding of how we develop psychological and neurologically. Allied to this is an increasing concern with the idea of well-being, a concept which places cognitive performance and development within a more socially grounded context.

Intimacy and Reproduction in Contemporary Japan
(Routledge Research on Gender in Asia)
 222 pages 2016:07 Routledge
 Hardback 9781138640443 £90.00

This book presents an ethnographic investigation of intimate and reproductive behaviour in current Japanese society, grounded in the viewpoints of a group of Japanese mothers. Based on the accounts of 57 married Japanese women, it employs symbolic interactionism as a framework to examine the various factors affecting decision-making on childbirth. With strong contextual information, the book contributes fresh insight into how Japanese women perceive the idea of childbirth in a modernized society, and also assists our understanding of the factors causing Japan's ageing population.

Schools across the US look very different today than they did a generation ago. Police officers, drug-sniffing dogs, surveillance cameras, and high suspension rates have become commonplace. This book presents a blueprint for reform that emphasizes problem-solving and accountability while encouraging the need to implement smarter school policies.

The Slow Professor: Challenging the Culture of Speed in the Academy

By Maggie Berg and Barbara Seeber

In The Slow Professor, Maggie Berg and Barbara K. Seeber discuss how adopting the principles of the Slow movement in academic life can counter this erosion of humanistic education. Focusing on the individual faculty member and his or her own professional practice, Berg and Seeber present both an analysis of the culture of speed in the academy and ways of alleviating stress while improving teaching, research, and collegiality. The Slow Professor will be a must-read for anyone in academia concerned about the frantic pace of contemporary university life.

学習と指導研究ハンドブック 第2版

Handbook of Research on Learning and Instruction, 2nd edition

Educational Psychology Handbook

Edited by Richard E. Mayer and Patricia A. Alexander

During the past 30 years, researchers have made exciting progress in the science of learning (i.e., how people learn) and the science of instruction (i.e., how to help people learn). This second edition is intended to provide an overview of these research advances. With chapters written by leading researchers from around the world, this volume examines learning and instruction in a variety of learning environments including in classrooms and out of classrooms, and with a variety of learners including K-16 students and adult learners.
